

Talk title: Open Science for a European and Global Science Commons. The OpenAIRE infrastructure.

Talk abstract: A Science Commons is the connective tissue interlinking platforms, policies, technologies and social infrastructures, all critical layers of Open Science, each of which is necessary but none of which is sufficient on its own. Everyone has a role to play in the Open Science ecosystem. OpenAIRE, a key pillar of the European Open Science Cloud, operates an open scholarly communication infrastructure acting as a cross-discipline, cross-infrastructure interlinking mechanism for both technical and social layers.